

Rewrite each sentence to make the main verb stronger.

1. Larissa is a student of history and psychology.

2. Professor Rose does not agree with Professor Randall about the uneven distribution of grades in the freshman class.

3. Because Janice is prone to stay away from social gatherings, she spends many evenings alone in her dorm room.

4. Miss Lawson made a drawing of a herd of bison stampeding across the plains.

5. Louis was The Cowardly Lion in the school production of The Wizard of Oz.

6. If someone says something bad about you, you should not say something bad about that person.

7. The male anglerfish feels attraction for the female angler because of the pheromones the female produces.

8. There were so many dance practices that my feet hurt every night.

9. Monica was waiting impatiently at the airport for her sister to arrive from Paris.

10. The intended purpose of the lecture was to teach students effective time management.

11. The Arsht Center in Miami has plays, ballets, and concerts every month.

12. There was a display of contemporary abstract art at the campus gallery.

13. Dunkin Donuts has exhibited perseverance throughout the years, in spite of the many ups and downs of the economy, since it was founded in 1950.

14. Jack Lalanne was a promoter of health and fitness through his lifestyle and the sale of his Jack Lalanne Power Juicer.

15. The budget committee came up with an approximation of the costs of building a new stadium.

16. Dr. Brene Brown has a theory that when people avoid vulnerability, they also stop emotional growth.

17. Penelope Trunk is a blogger who writes about work, relationships, and parenting.
